COUNCILMAN WOLFSON was joined by BEVERLY POLINA of SafeNest to recognize Domestic Violence Awareness Month, for which he presented MS. POLINA with a Proclamation declaring October 2006 as Domestic Violence Awareness Month. MS. POLINA noted that Nevada has the second highest rate of domestic violence, with Alaska being number one. This month brings the opportunity to dispel many myths about domestic violence, and SafeNest will be working to encourage men to talk with the boys in their lives about why violence has no place in relationships and that violence does not equal strength. She thanked MAYOR GOODMAN and COUNCILMAN WOLFSON for bringing attention to this issue.
