

[illegible]

For all the reasons mentioned above, the authors believe that the proposed model is a promising tool for the study of the effects of the environment on the development of the child.

