OCT 11 2007

Thank you so much for the opportunity to respond to this very 'local' neighborhood issue.

First, I thought there have already been some variances given for this project. If I am mistaken, then my argument against the sign may lack some force. The more variances given, the fewer are due.

More important, a large sign of this type will alter any attempt to keep a "neighborhood" feeling and image. This sign is nothing more than another means of producing income. I would like them to state what the revenue stream will be from this sign.

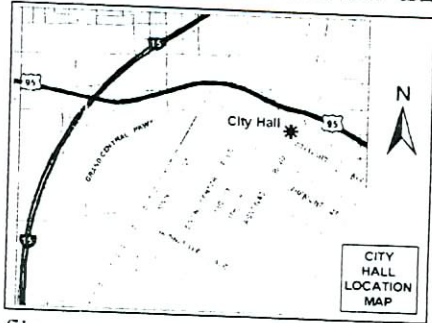

Lastly, at this location, the very last thing that is needed is for any driver to be "reading" a large billboard. This is a very complicated intersection with regard to traffic and full attention should be on driving. The very possibility of the sign causing inattention should be enough to ban it from the proposed location.

Respectfully,

Mark Scarborough
