QUESTION FROM CITY COUNCILMAN RICKY BARNES: WITH WHAT WOULD
 "THE RESIDENTS PREFER DONE WITH THE VACANT PROPERTIES
 ON W. LAKE MEAD BLVD (DECATUR THRU MICHAEL WAY)?

THIS QUESTION PROMPTED THIS PETITION:

PETITION TO OPPOSE A ZONE CHANGE FROM RESIDENTIAL TO C-1 COMMERCIAL

We the undersigned residents, and/or owners of homes in the Curtis Park Manor and residents surrounding these properties are opposed to and would like to voice our objections to a proposed zone change. This zone change would reclassify the 5 residential properties (1) at 4901 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Fairhaven St. (3) three properties at 3 corners of 5100-5201 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Leonard Lane and (1) at 5401 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Michael Way from R-E (Residential Estates) to C-1 (Commercial). We are further opposed to the construction of any type Commercial Building or Business Facility on these properties. Many of us are long time residents on or near W. Lake Mead Blvd and we propose that these properties were purchased to build residential single family homes so why change this zoning just to make huge profits for a few. Vacant business sites already erode our community. On individual properties, we might consider Professional Zoning and a Professional Building if noted below in ADDITIONAL COMMENTS. Our objections to these changes are noted by our signatures below:

Buying and selling property is Mr. Primack's full-time job. The amount of time and effort it takes for the average citizen to attend these meetings is a real hardship to those of us with other jobs, families, soccer practice and countless other commitments. Since most of the neighbors here are not accustomed to addressing a governmental body, I have typed this summary.

This is the second time in 6 months approximately 300 households have circled the wagons to oppose Mr. Primack's attempt to rezone a portion of our neighborhood for commercial use. The residents between Jones and Decatur, east and west, and Washington and Smoke Ranch, north and south, remain firmly opposed to a rezone and urge you deny this application.

On April 8 representatives of the neighborhood met with Councilman Ricky Barlow in whose Ward 5 this issue lies, to give our reasons for opposition. Last Saturday morning, at our invitation, Councilman Barlow, County Commissioner Susan Brager and liaison Kim Bush attended Curtis Park's spring breakfast to hear neighbor sentiment about this rezone attempt.

On both occasions the neighbors were clear. Mr. Primack must honor the existing R-E zoning as it stands. He must build residential houses or sell his property to someone who will.

The Primacks held a meeting with the neighbors March 23 at Paul Cully Elementary. The purpose of the meeting was to unveil their rezone intentions. About 30 neighbors were present along with Planning Director Margo Wheeler, who took notes. The meeting did not go well, especially when the Primacks were pressed for details.

The Primacks want a Quick Care, pharmacy, coffee shop for employees and clients, rentable two-story office space, and vehicle access north and south down the residential street of Michael Way. Undoubtedly, the Primacks' plan would make them money, but the residents would have to live with crushing consequences, which I'm about to outline.

To begin with, Primack's plan will exacerbate the present cut-through traffic problem we now have on the adjoining residential avenues of Auburn, Reiter, Eugene, Stacey and Sawyer. When neighbors brought this to Bret Primack's attention, his answer was "so what, there's always going to be cut-through traffic." As for a "Quick Care-type facility, we have two, one at Alexander and Decatur and one at Buffalo and Lake Mead. As for rentable office space, there is a surplus of that throughout the valley now. If this application passes, the houses along Lake Mead east of Primack's property will fall like dominoes because no one wants to live next door to a commercial enterprise.

Neighbor opposition to this spot-zoning attempt goes deeper. If the Planning Commission--or City Council on appeal--approves this neighborhood land for commercial use, it will never go back. I have never seen an example of that. Additionally, if rezoned commercial, neighbors will have to watch and worry over the inevitable market-driven variance requests by new or existing owners. Commercial zone variances are always piecemeal. They are often tiny and occur right under your nose, until it's too late. If this property is rezoned commercial, neighbors will be forced to remain on edge, poised to battle unending future requests for Special Use Permits—payday loan stores, gas stations, taverns, tattoo parlors, liqueur stores and 7-Elevens. While those are legitimate businesses, they do not belong in a neighborhood zoned strictly residential. Once winning a rezone, it's no secret that developers quietly seek to diminish the amounts of landscaping required. They seek to shorten distances between buildings, increase wall heights, and eliminate setbacks. Ultimately, home owners' property values fall and neighborhood pride plummets. A defeatist, "what's the use in fighting developer money" attitude emerges amongst the residents. And then, over time, another tidy neighborhood erodes into unkempt houses, graffiti, and crime, more fodder for the police beat.

Unless neighbors watch week to week, map by map, the changes brought by commercial rezones and then the variances are nearly imperceptible, until one day the neighbors scratch their heads and ask "what happened to my neighborhood at the hands of my local government, whom I thought, was appointed or elected to protect us?"

As for the unprofitability of building houses during a slumped market, why can't the Primacks face the same consequences of a market-driven economy like everyone else? Dips and spikes in our free-enterprise system are a routine fact of life. Mr. Primack will have to wait until the market improves, like everyone else.

Finally, in isolation, spot zoning and future variances seem like minor items. Yet the cumulative effect over time, however, usually is much more pronounced, resulting in permanent aesthetic and quality of life changes. The property in question is not a new development. The neighbors were here first, for 40 years. We feel our neighborhood is not ripe for decay or encroachment. We are here tonight to protect our old neighborhood, but we need you help.

As a footnote, Jordie Primack did not ingratiate himself to me when two months I called him about his property, to learn of his intentions. He sarcastically told me that his asking price for the land was $1,250,000 and that if the neighbors were so concerned about what was built there, why don't we buy it from him and build a park?

We the undersigned residents, and/or owners of homes in the Curtis Park Manor and residents surrounding these properties are opposed to and would like to voice our objections to a proposed zone change. This zone change would reclassify the 5 residential properties (1) at 4901 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Fairhaven St. (3) three properties at 3 corners of 5100-5201 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Leonard Lane and (1) at 5401 W. Lake Mead Blvd & Michael Way from R-E (Residential Estates) to C-1 (Commercial). We are further opposed to the construction of any type Commercial Building or Business Facility on these properties. Many of us are long time residents on or near W. Lake Mead Blvd and we propose that these properties were purchased to build residential single family homes so why change this zoning just to make huge profits for a few. Vacant business sites already erode our community. On individual properties, we might consider Professional Zoning and a Professional Building if noted below in ADDITIONAL COMMENTS. Our objections to these changes are noted by our signatures below:
