Minutes:

TODD FARLOW, Las Vegas resident, expressed his continued disgust at the banks for what they have done to the communities. It had long been established that home ownership reduces crime, but the foreclosures caused by the banks is causing crime to increase again. The only ones at fault are the banks; they simply do not lose out.

ROGER C. GURHAUSER, resident of the Downtowner Motel, and FRANK ELLIS, representing the Downtowner Motel, complained about the loud noise and music from the Night Club Azul. It is disturbing the peace and the tenants at the Motel.

ANTHONY HODGES showed a picture of when he walked with Martin Luther King Jr. and said there are many problems in this country, but it is still the best, and it would be even better if people were more tolerant.
