Prior to adjourning the meeting, MAYOR ANDY HAFEN once again thanked all of the government officials who participated in the open forum, contributing by means of questions, sharing concerns, offering recommendations and providing varied solutions already addressed by their individual municipalities or counties.

JUANITA CLARK, Las Vegas resident, appeared on behalf of residents of the Charleston Neighborhood Preservation. Having heard the statements made by various officials, she stated that she could foresee the City taking on more power rather than being readily available to the citizens. She briefly spoke about taxes and then commented that it would have been more beneficial if all of the discussion by the elected officials and staff were conducted in layman terms.
