Comments:

Nevada needs more birthing options. I have spoken to so many women who have had traumatic births. Data show the U.S. has high maternal mortality rates, which seems crazy. But too many are turning the birthing process into a business venture, which often leads to unnecessary interventions (pitocin, epidural, c-section) or missed risk factors. A birth center would be an answer to women's search for more options. I have a close friend who is currently pregnant with her second who had such a terrible experience delivering at Centennial Hospital. She loves her doctor but sees that her doctor's hands are tied by unnecessary hospital protocols (to protect against law suits rather than putting patient as the top priority). She is considering driving to California to deliver in a birthing center. (She is a NICU

Comments:

We have been trying to get a birthing center here in Las Vegas for over 40 years that I know of. It's about time that we gave our mothers other options. Birthing is not a disease. It is a dis-service to our healthy women and babies to send them to places of incredible disease like hospitals. We need to be able to give other choices to the families here in the valley. It's time to bring us into the 21st-century of birthing. Thank you for your time.

Comments: I write as a mother of three children (one of whom was born at a free-standing birth center run by licensed midwives), and as a perinatal professional who has worked with families around the world.
I know that community-based, independent birth centers are truly beneficial to the health and well-being of mothers and babies. They also contribute to a sense of connection and vitality to their neighborhood. I strongly urge you to welcome this birth center with open arms and approve all relevant permits. Thank you.
