Healing Garden - A Look Back

Healing Garden

Celebrating life, beauty,
love and compassion.

Choosing love over fear, life over death, hope over despair.

Helping each other heal.

Healing Garden

On October 2, Jay Pleggenkuhle and Daniel Perez were among those with heavy hearts. On a napkin they sketched what would later become the Las Vegas Community Healing Garden.

A group came together to make it a reality, many of whom are now members of the Las Vegas Healing Garden Committee: Apache Stone, City of Las Vegas (CLV), Custom Granite and Marble LLC, the Vegas Strong Resiliency Center, and members of the community.

Healing Garden

Within days, hundreds of volunteers were brought together by Jay, Daniel and the City of Las Vegas to create the Las Vegas Community Healing Garden.

Healing Garden

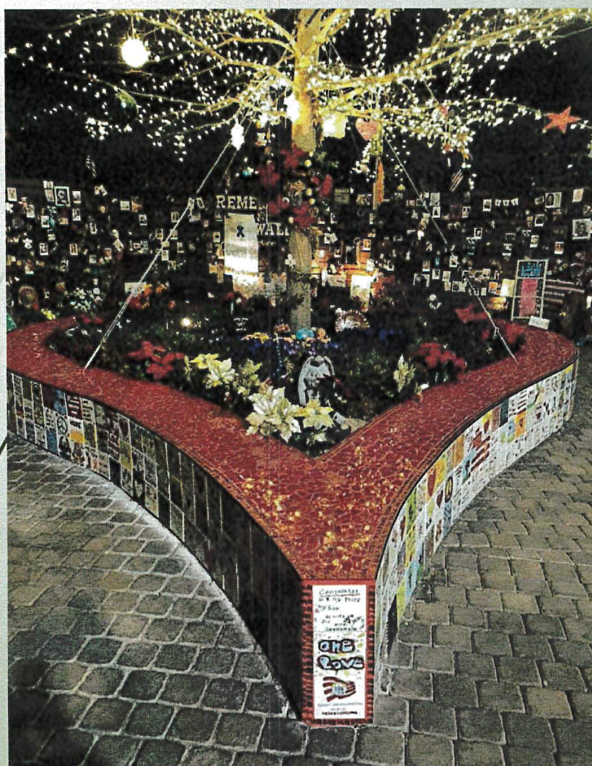

Family members, survivors and caring community members created the tiles that surround the tree of life. Many more have been stored by GON and are now being added to the Garden ahead of October 1, 2020.

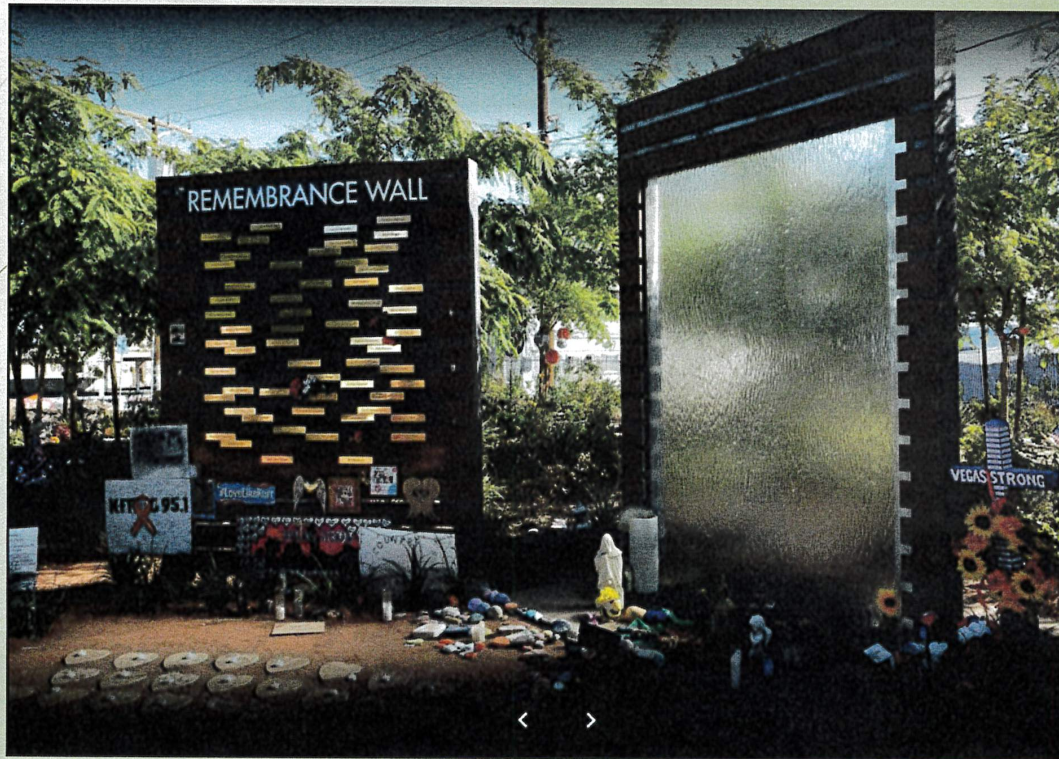

Healing Garden

Welcome to the Las Vegas Community Healing Garden

On October 1st, 2017, a senseless act of violence shattered the community. In the tragedy, 58 people from the United States and Canada lost their lives. Hundreds were injured, and countless others were impacted. In the days after the event, the Las Vegas community came together to create this garden as a refuge of love, hope, and compassion.

If you are suffering trauma, or were affected by the October 1st event, we invite you to use the Las Vegas Community Healing Garden as a place of refuge and reflection. This is a space to help each other heal, strengthen, and remain Vegas Strong.

Healing Garden Volunteers
