Updates

Improvements have been implemented in response to the feedback received from the Education Subcommittee members:

- Project-specific informational meetings have been implemented for all new public art projects.
- Project-specific site meetings have been held for all new public art projects.
- The application process has been streamlined and condensed when possible and appropriate for all new public art projects.

Next Steps

The Public Art team plans to implement the following in response to the feedback received from the Education Subcommittee members:

- Educational artistic services contracting workshop for local artists to learn about the contracting process.
- Increase the opportunities for emerging artists to partner with established artists.

Budget Update

The City Manager’s Office is recommending that the Public Art Program receive additional funding for next fiscal year. The funding will allow us to increase educational opportunities provided by the city to the arts community. An additional $25,000 will be allocated to the program when approved.
