

the Board of Commissioner have the curfew law enforced. Chief of Police Nash was directed to have the curfew bell rang at nine each night and to direct to the officers on the Police force to see that children were not allowed to loiter on the streets after that hour.

A letter from the County Clerk was read to the Board asking that the Police Officers call the City Health Doctor for the prisoners and not the County Health Doctor. Mr. Nash explained to the Board that the only time he had called the County Doctor was for the care of indigents who were not in the City Jail. The City Attorney J. A. Stevens was directed to write the County Board of Commissioners to that effect.
